

CALL FOR PAPERS

28th International Conference on Transport Theory

ICTT-28 has partnered with the ANS journal Nuclear Science and Engineering (NSE) to publish a special issue of papers derived from the conference. Please submit your paper directly via the link below. For questions, please contact the NSE editor-in-chief, Dr. Farzad Rahnema, at frahnema@outlook.com.

Important information:

- Your paper will go through the standard journal peer review process. This invitation is not a guarantee of acceptance or publication.
- Standard publication in NSE is free of charge, while open access publication is available for a fee ($2,630 per paper).
- There is no restriction on length. Please follow submission guidelines listed online here.
- Accepted papers are published online ahead of print, immediately following copyediting and typesetting—usually within 6 to 8 weeks. The compiled special issue will follow, with print publication estimated for Q3 2025.

**Submission window: open July 1, 2024, with a final deadline of December 31, 2024.

Submit via Submission Portal at the link below (please select “ICTT-28 special issue”):

Additionally, should you choose not to pursue journal publication, we invite you to consider submitting to the ANS online platform Nuclear Science and Technology Open Research (NSTOR). NSTOR welcomes submissions where authors prefer, or funders require, a fully open publication venue for research articles, and/or where authors would like to submit article types not typically supported by archival journals (e.g., brief reports, method articles, data notes, posters/presentations). Submit to NSTOR – Questions? Email nstor@ans.org.

Thank you again for attending ICTT-28, and we hope you participate in this special issue opportunity!

Our very best,

Barry Ganapol, ICTT-28 special issue guest editor; ganapol@cowboy.ame.arizona.edu
